

The customer is one person who can have zero to many orders. The customer_order is one and only one to keep orders separate from each other. An order can have many movie options but tickets are linked to a certain movie. Snacks can be zero or many and are linked to the tickets in the order.